 Six Months $7.00
 Three Months $4.00
 One Month $1.00
 Delivered by Carrier, $1.25 per Month.

SIX REWARD

A reward of $10 will be paid for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of parties stealing The Bonanza from subscribers.

TO SUBSCRIBERS

Parties who do not receive their papers, or who have any cause for complaint will oblige The Bonanza by notifying this office.

All legal advertisements will be charged at the rate of $1.00 per square for the first insertion. There will be no exception to this rate. No affidavit of publication will be made until the advertisement is paid for.

Entered at the postoffice in Tonopah as second class matter.

REGISTER! REGISTER! REGISTER!

WITH the date for closing registration only three days away, the Bonanza again calls upon all citizens to become eligible to vote at the coming election. It is particularly the duty and privilege of all mothers to take advantage of their right of franchise. The right of ballot is a sacred privilege. If only the self-seeking, scheming, mercenary people went to the polls, there would be bad laws and oppressive government. But to vote, one must register, and the time to do so is growing very brief. The good women of this city are particularly admonished not to let the opportunity pass.

LOOKS GOOD TO HIGHER-UPS

WHEN optimism is voiced by those in authority, men who see beyond the narrow horizon of those who cruise in narrow, hemmed-in channels, it is a time for all to grow optimistic. The future of Tonopah may appear hopeful to those who are not in contact with the "big business" of the camp, but when it is painted in roseate colors by men who are students at close range of the markets and general conditions, it is about time to feel as though we are living in a "permanent camp." Mr. M. B. Cutter, president of the Tonopah & Goldfield railroad, and Mr. J. Harvey Whiteman, vice president of the Tonopah Mining company of Nevada, both visited Tonopah this week and made more than a casual inspection of conditions here. They are more than impressed with the continuity of life of this camp.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND THE TAXPAYER

WHEN the salary of the district attorney of Nye county was $5000 a year, J. A. Sanders took care of the office and also of the salary. He was not burdened with the duties at that, for the office does not have the onerous duties it once had, when the country was in the making. The legislature noted that the position was largely one wherein the official was provided with a rent free office for the conducting of his private law practice. The salary was accordingly lowered to $300 a month, but with a joker in the bill, that if found expedient and necessary, a deputy might be employed at $100 a month and a stenographer at a similar sum. Of course, it was immediately "expedient and necessary," so Sanders secured from another county an assistant and also employed a stenographer, bringing the cost to the taxpayers up to one thousand dollars a year more than before, leaving the district attorney still more time to devote to private practice.

Really the only serious duty that befell the office of district attorney in the past year was the "vindication" of the honor of the district attorney by the prosecution of W. W. Booth for criminal libel, at heavy expense to the taxpayers and a boomerang to Sanders and his machine.

"GOOD FOR LAND GRABBERS, BUT BAD FOR STATE"

Governor EMMET D. BOYLE and a number of men who would be benefitted by the passage of the Senator Pittman 1,000,000 acres land grant bill take distinctly opposite views of the safeguards which the bill's proponents claim to have placed about it, says the Nevada State Journal.

Governor Boyle, in a recent speech at Carson City, said it was within the power of the legislature to safeguard the grant by the enactment of laws which would permit either the leasing or sale of the land—and place thereon conditions and restraints, thereby eliminating the fear that vast corporate interests would obtain control of the land.

We do not remember hearing anyone deny that a legislature would have such power. But we said ourselves, and others have said it, there was grave danger "our legislature" would not exercise this power; that they would be docile creatures in the hands of their creators.

That such danger would be imminent, if the bill becomes law, is amply proved by the statements of men, strongly interested in the Pittman proposed grant, that the bill would be "a good thing for them, but bad for the state."

When these men make such admissions why should Governor Boyle take it upon himself to say the Senator Pittman grant is a good measure?

How does Governor Boyle know better than those who are experts in Nevada land and who have made their money from Nevada land? Expert land knowledge is superior to land politics. Those who are forever talking about "trust in legislatures" might learn a valuable lesson from recent history in British Columbia. That province has been ruled by the McBride-Bowser government. It has not been charged, so far as we know, that this government was actually dishonest and controlled by land speculators. But its land policy has proved all wrong. True, the government revised its policy, but not in time to prevent disastrous consequences. Lands became tied up in the hands of speculators and immigration and settlement were discouraged.

Public indignation rose to such a height finally that the government was turned out of power. This may or may not prevent similar abuses in the future, but it does not return to the people the domain they lost, unless some means can be found to condemn the grabbers' holdings and return them to the public domain where they will be available for settlement.

We cannot doubt that human nature is the same in British Columbia as in Nevada, or elsewhere. There does not appear to have been any great public scandal in the province over the alienation of its public domain. But the interests worked warily and successfully; the government did not properly safeguard its property, and one of the richest agricultural and mining provinces in the dominion finds itself tied hand and foot by land speculators; with immigration discouraged and settlement of its great valleys postponed for years.

AFTERNOON NEWSPAPERS ARE GROWING

Since the use of improved newspaper publishing machinery has become general, afternoon newspapers have grown more and more popular with the average reading American.

Today in nearly every city in the United States, afternoon newspapers have larger circulations and advertising patronage than in the past.

The development of the afternoon newspaper is steady because it is based on the ability to give better service to the public.

Reports from all over the state are to the effect that Judge T. F. (Barney) Moran will be elected justice of the supreme court by the largest majority given any candidate. His clean-cut record and his personality, evidencing the integrity of his character, appeal to all the voters.

CLIPPED AND CREDITED

It doesn't take a Jess Willard to lick the germ on a postage stamp.—Toledo Blade.

Villa's advance toward Pershing's force is evidently made at a great distance.—Albany Journal.

The reports of Villa's death weren't exaggerated so greatly after all—he's been seen with a crutch.—Buffalo Express.

Where were the tanks at Combes? Was it a dry town?—Chicago Post.

General Trevino seems to be no better at making explanations than he is at taking precautions against attack.—Pittsburg Post.

The insistence of Villa that he conquered Trevino is followed by the insistence of Trevino that he walloped Villa. Two of a kind, undoubtedly.—Cincinnati Tribune.

The report that the kaiser is expected to make a peace move this fall is interesting, but it would have been big news if it had come from Berlin instead of London.—Galveston News.

Once more the headlines are announcing that "Hindenburg plans a blow at the Russians." He will have to be carrying out this plan pretty soon or winter will make its realization impossible.—Rochester Chronicle.

EARLY STORMS ASSIST ROUND MOUNTAIN CO.

Thanks to the early rain and snow storms, the Round Mountain Mining company will be enabled to continue its placer operations until the gravel is frozen, which will probably be about the middle of November.

President L. D. Gordon came in from camp last evening and continued on to San Francisco this morning. He stated to the Bonanza while here: "Last month we handled 3256 tons with scrapers and also did some bedrock cleaning. We will scrape until about the middle of next month, when frost overtakes us. "The quartz is looking well. It made a nice profit last month. We are doing preliminary work in the water canyon to determine the depth to bedrock. It is probable that the new dam will not be constructed this winter, but everything will be in readiness to start operations in the spring."

AMERICAN TEAM WINS INTERNATIONAL RACE

(By Associated Press.)

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 17.—Twelve thousand people gathered yesterday to witness the games in which a group of star American athletes competed against representatives of the Scandinavian countries. The principal event was the 1000 meters run, in which Zander and Bolin, Swedes, equalled the world's record of two minutes, 31.5 seconds, finishing abreast, well ahead of Ted Meredith, former American quarter mile champion, who on Saturday won the 400 meters dash in fast time. Meredith's time today was 2:38 7-10.

Bob Simpson, an American sprinter, won the 110 meter hurdles in 14.45 seconds, which surpasses the Olympic record by one fifth of a second.

The American team won the relay race. Fred Murray of the American team was second in the shotput.
